Banking Credit for Farmers

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE invites the Co-operation of its farmer customers in furthering its efforts to give them efficient service, particularly in the matter of credits for Grain Growing and Livestock

Grain Loans: It is this Bank's policy to carry its loans to grain growers so as to enable the latter to complete the Fall work on their land, and market their grain gradually after the freeze-up.

Livestock Loans: We make liberal loans to farmers, large and small, to purchase both feeders and breeding stock, and we carry such loans so as to enable farmers to finish the stock properly for market.

Make your Banker your financial adviser and let him help you to shape your affairs, with a view to enabling you to obtain what credit you require from the Bank and to pay cash for your goods.

If, after giving your Bank Manager a full and truthful statement of your affairs, you cannot obtain the credit which you need and to which you think you are entitled, don't nurse a grudge against the Bank.

Instead, lay the facts before the Directors of your local Grain Growers' Association, and get them to take the matter up with your Banker—most accessibly by way of complaint, but rather to clear up any possible misunderstanding.

Then if the Directors feel that your case merits more generous treatment than the local Manager is disposed to give it, let them pass on the matter to the Secretary of your Provincial Grain Growers' Association, with a view to his discussing the matter with the Bank's chief Western representative.

This is a form of co-operation we would cordially welcome.

Farm Life in Canada

The whole world is in a state of unrest, and society is being shaken to its very foundations. Conditions are changing, and uncertainty exists in almost every walk of life. Turmoil and strife are everywhere in evidence throughout industry, our political institutions are undergoing the greatest strain yet placed upon them, in the world of finance there is doubt and anxiety, and throughout the whole social fabric there is such questioning and groping as to what is best to be done.

This discontent and unrest is, however, much more apparent in large centres of population all over the world, in the cities and large towns, than it is in the rural communities. While there is, of course, some doubt and uncertainty as to the general effect which these disturbed world conditions may have on the profits of agriculture, there is peace and contentment on the farms of Canada in comparison to the state of feeling in the cities and towns.

Present conditions, in fact, demonstrate that no man leads a happier or more independent existence today than does the successful farmer. In urban centres the working man is filled with doubts and misgivings as to the future. He lives in constant dread that the present upheaval following the Great War will result in widespread unemployment, and that soon he will find himself and his family facing actual want. The almost universal demand for higher wages is occasioned by the fact that the city worker finds it impossible to make money and bring his family up in decency and comfort with the present high cost of living. He realizes that, to a greater extent than ever before, he is not dependent on his own efforts, but is the plaything of forces he cannot control. In comparison with the farmer, the city worker is a slave.

So, too, the employer of labor, and the business and professional man in city and town, is harassed with countless worries. The large employer of labor would like to give work to all, and pay the wages demanded to meet the abnormally increased cost of living, but with an uncertain financial outlook, and doubtful of the means to market and sell his products in such quantity as to warrant the employment of larger numbers of men and the payment of higher wages, he finds himself in a quandary. He, too, is not independent. On the contrary, he is absolutely dependent on world forces beyond his control, and also dependent on the goodwill and loyal co-operation of his employees.

The farmer, on the other hand, while confronted with increased costs of living and higher wages for farm help, has the assurance that there is a market for all he can produce. The world can get along for a time without manufactured goods of many classes, but mankind cannot get along without food for even a day. The farmer is not troubled with non-demanding work that they may live; his worry is rather to get sufficient help to enable him to produce all that he would like to produce.

While no man can live into himself alone, the farmer is more independent of his fellowmen than any other class. He is more dependent on his own efforts than others, and can regulate the operations of his business to suit his needs and circumstances better than can the city business man or city worker.

It would be foolish to attempt to minimize the difficulties with which the farmer has to contend, or to discount the problems he has to solve, but the fact remains that, admitting and recognizing these, he is still able to live a happier and more independent life than is the city toiler. He is to a far greater extent master of his own life and destiny.

And after all, to feel independent, to know that the measure of your success in life is largely in your own hands, that you are your own boss, is one of the supreme satisfactions in life. The boy or youth on the farm who sometimes feels that farm work is drudgery, that he is leading a narrow existence, and who is tempted by the lure of the city with its bright lights, its crowds, and surface gaiety, would do well to reflect that on the farm he is his own master, while in the city he would become someone's servant. On the farm he is a man; in the city he would be but one of the crowd. In the city the bright lights, the laughter, the passing amusements, are all on the surface, and beneath and back of them there is much loneliness and heartache and far more monotony and drudgery than on the farm. For every success in the city of which the world hears, there are one hundred failures of which no notice is taken.

Thousands of city toilers in office, store and factory would gladly relinquish those things which constitute the life of the city if they had the opportunity, knowledge and strength to engage in agricultural pursuits. Youth on the farm who have such opportunity, knowledge and strength should hesitate long before abandoning their substantial substance for the shadows of city life.

YOU CAN'T RUB

RHEUMATISM OUT

It is Rooted in the Blood and Must Be Treated Through the Blood

The pain of rheumatism is something they cannot rub out. Every sufferer from rheumatism has been advised to rub this liniment or that on the affected part, but after all the rubbing the pain remained. Rubbing did not cure it and can't cure it. Thin blood and rheumatism go together and if they are properly treated they will go together. Rheumatism is rooted in the blood, in poor watery blood. Sometimes cold, damp weather starts the aches and pains, but it is the condition of the blood that is at fault, and only by correcting this, and making the blood rich and red can the rheumatic poison be driven out. This is exactly what is done in the treatment of rheumatism with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Acute and muscular rheumatism show improvement as the thin blood is built up, and when the blood has been restored to its normal condition, the rheumatism is driven out and does not return. "Long as the blood is kept rich and red." There is no part of Canada in which some rheumatic sufferer has not been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they do not hesitate to express their thanks for what this medicine has done for them. As an example, Miss Annie S. Dedrick, R.R. No. 2, St. Thomas, Ont., says—

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured my rheumatism after a great many other remedies had failed. The pain in my arms and shoulders was so great that I could scarcely sleep. I could not raise my arms to comb my hair, and could not rest myself without help. In this condition I read of a cure of rheumatism through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. I got half a dozen boxes and I am thankful to say they not only cured my rheumatism, but my general health was greatly improved. My appetite was increased and I gained in weight. Since then a number of cases have come under my observation in which cures have been effected by this splendid medicine. As proof for myself, I shall always speak a good word for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Obedience
Pat just returned from the trenches with his head swathed in bandages, was the centre of attraction. "How did you get wounded?" asked a proud admirer.

"Well," said Pat, "the dirty boche was raising Ned-wie's trenches when our brave captain shouts 'Keep down, boys, and stihand Pat!' Oh, oh!"—Judge.

Refugees are Starving

Igdit, Trans-Caucasia. — A systematic removal and the destruction of crops and food supplies carried out by the Turkish troops in the southern part of Russian Armenia, have left the country in a state of famine. Arranging for Wool Crop

Co-operative Scheme of Marketing Will Again Be Undertaken

Sheep owners of Manitoba and Saskatchewan have already been notified by the governments of the respective provinces that the co-operative scheme of marketing will again be undertaken this year. For the past few years farmers in these two provinces have sent their wool to a government centre for grading and marketing. In Alberta the wool is handled by wool growers' associations, of which there are four in the province. The industry has grown enormously since a proper system of grading and marketing was introduced, and it is expected that there will again be a large increase in the number of growers participating, as well as in the quantity of wool handled in all three provinces.

The suitability of Western Canada for sheep is all that could be desired, and experienced sheep breeders say they know of no place where sheep are less liable to disease.

Useful in Camp. — Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the Oil and the result will be the prevention of pain in the muscles, and should a cut, or contusion, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

Money in Eggs

Seventeen carloads of eggs were shipped from Regina, Saskatchewan, during the week ending May 8. Most of them went to Vancouver and other Western Coast points, but four carloads went to Montreal. The numerous shipments of eggs and butter that have been made from Regina, Saskatchewan and other Saskatchewan points recently show that the farmers of the province can produce something else besides grain, and what is more, are beginning to do so. They are finding eggs rather profitable, receiving forty-four and forty-five cents a dozen at a time when eggs are plentiful.

The Real Proposition

The New York World says that sixty per cent. of the people of Alberta were born in the United States. The real proposition is 184 per cent., compared with 13.6 per cent. in Saskatchewan and 3.3 per cent. in Manitoba.

School Entertainment "Eutanic"

The entire time given for the Crossfield School children on Friday evening, was of a tonic nature, and was very beautifully represented by the children. The whole entertainment must be declared a very positive success, and great credit is due to the teachers and all who took part in the performance.

The first rise of the curtain—for the "Eutanic Love Song" was a very pleasant surprise to all. The stage setting and costumes were splendid—and the song was rendered very creditably by the elder girls. The quartette "Four Little Rosebuds," was sung by four little girls especially well. Their movement, gesture, action and expression were true and graceful, and this item of the programme was a great treat to the audience.

The full chorus "Beautiful Flowers of Spring time," was very pretty and enjoyable. The Monologue "The Goblins 'H' get you if you don't watch out," was very well presented by Miss Marie Becker. The acoustic properties of the hall being a great deal to blame for the voice not being heard at the back end of the hall. The Ribbon March was splendidly executed by the elder pupils; very little hesitation being shown in any of the figures represented; the little girls who completed the picture—being very confident of their movements, which were correct, and gave a very pretty effect to the scene.

The Fairy Operetta—the climax of the entertainment, was without doubt a splendid success. The individual characters taken by the girls and boys were all well done, and it would be unfair to make special mention of any. The songs, dances and choruses were a musical treat.—Captain Soot's voice was very unimpaired—but very appropriate to one who is about to undergo so serious an operation. The doctor was surely an hilarious kind of a woman, but I suppose she was only cruel to be kind; for Captain Soot and his brigade, although weak and pale after the rubbing and the scrubbing operation, certainly appeared more worthy to wear the Queen's "Lily"—the token of "Fidelity and Truth."

Chautauque—stands for improvement—the creation of a taste for the higher things in life, in literature, in music, art and painting—and what can lead the child towards these higher things, better than entertainments of this class. As the producing needle impresses the soft disc for a phonographic production—so the brain of the child is impressed by surrounding influences, be they good or bad; and as the hardened wax of the phonographic disc will re-produce the first impression—thousands of times—so the first impressions of childhood, will be re-produced in the brain thousands of times, and so long as life lasts. How careful every one should be, then, that the impressions of childhood should all tend towards the purity and truth of which the "Lily" is a symbol.

Crossfield has need of a good entertainment hall, very few towns of its size and of its surrounding wealth are so poorly equipped. This entertainment could not have been improved under the conditions, and both trainers and participants deserve great appreciation and congratulations—but the same entertainment given in a comfortably seated hall, with a well appointed and brilliantly lit platform, would have been one hundred per cent more effective and more enjoyable to all concerned.

CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION

Vestry Meeting

A meeting of the Vestry of the Church of the Ascension was held on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. Geo. McLeod. The matter of sinking a well at the Parsonage was discussed, and a committee was appointed to meet the officers of the Women's Guild to discuss the matter. Arrangements were also made for institution of systematic giving by means of the Duplex envelope system. The Memorial Tablet to the memory of Pte. Edwards was shown and steps taken for its erection. Mr. F. Goodsell tendered his resignation as People's Warden, and it was accepted with regret, the motion being coupled with a vote of thanks for his past services in that capacity. It was decided to call a meeting of the parishioners after service on Sunday morning, at which Mr. R. Whitfield was elected to the office, and Messrs. Batts and Watters added to the Vestry.

THE COW PUNCHER

— BY —
ROBERT J. C. STEAD

Copyrighted. Printed by special arrangement with Thos. Allen,
Toronto.

"He's strong," she said. "But he's rude."

The best fields for muscle are often poor schools for manners," he answered. "But manners are no substitute for hospitality, and he seems to have that all right. It is something that belongs to the open country, the big, open country. In cities they entertain, but in the ranching country they, why, there isn't any word for it, but you will see for yourself."

He was soon back with a wagon and a stretcher. He avoided the eyes of his guests, but quickly and gently enough he placed the injured man on the stretcher. "I guess you'll have to take the feet," he said. The words were for the girl, although he did not look at her. "I could hustle him myself, but it might hurt 'im."

But the injured man interrupted. "I beg your pardon," he said, "that I did not introduce my daughter, I am Doctor Hardy—this is my daughter, Irene, Mr. —?"

"They don't call me mister," said the boy. "Misters is scarce in these woods. My name is Elden—Dave Elden."

He was for dropping it at that, but the girl came up with extended hand. He took it shyly, but it made him curiously bold. "I'm glad to meet you, Mr. Elden," she said.

"I'm glad to meet you, too," he answered. "Misses is scarcer than misters in this neck of the woods."

Carefully they lifted the injured man into the wagon, and Dave drove to the ranch building with an unwonted caution that must have caused strange misgivings in the hearts of his men.

"It ain't much of a place," he said, as they pulled up at the door. "I guess you can see that for yourself," he added, with a grin. "You see, there's just Dad and me, and he's soused most of the time, and I handle a lasso better than a scrubby brush." He was already losing his shyness. "Now, you take the feet again. Steady, don't break any more bones. Look out for that harr-hoop. This way, now."

He led into the old ranch house, kicking the door wider open with his heel as he passed. A musty smell fell on the senses of the girl as she entered, and she was conscious of the buzzing of innumerable flies. A partition from east to west divided the house, and another partition from north to south divided the northern half. In the northeast room they set the stretcher on the floor.

"Now," said the boy, "I'm going for the doctor. It's forty miles to town, and it'll likely be mornin' before I'm back, but I'll sure burn the trail. You'll have to make the best of it, 'en the much-spotted window.

"There's grub in the house, and you won't starve—that is, if you can cook." (This was evidently for Irene. There was a note in it that suggested the girl might have her limitations.) "Dig in to anything in sight. And I hope your father's leg won't hurt very much." Irene wondered afterwards why the hope concerning her father should have been expressed to her. Did he already feel—that was it?—better acquainted with her?

"Oh, I'll stand it," said Doctor Hardy, with some cheerfulness. "We medical men become accustomed to suffering—in other people. You are very kind. My daughter may remain in this room, I suppose? There is no one else?"

"No one but the old man," he answered. "He's asleep in the next room, safe till mornin'. I'll be back by that time. That's my bed," indicating a corner. "Make yourselves at home." He lounged through the door and they heard his spurs clanking across the hard earth.

The girl's first thought was to assure as much comfort for her father as the circumstances would permit. She removed his boot and stocking, and, under his direction, slit the leg of his trousers above the injury. It was bleeding a little. In the large room of the house she found a pail with water, and she bathed the wound, wiping it with her handkerchief, and mingling a tear or two with the warm blood that dripped from it.

"You're good stuff," her father said, pressing his fingers of her unoccupied hand. "Now, if you could find a clean cloth to bandage it—"

She looked about the place, somewhat hopelessly. Her expedition to the main part of the house, when she had found the water pail, had not reassured her as to the housekeeping of the Eldens. Her father read her perplexity.

"It seems as though you would be in charge here for awhile, Reenie," he said, "so you will save time by getting acquainted at once with your equipment. Look the place over and see what you have to work with."

"Well, I can commence here," she answered. "This is Dave's room. I suppose I should say Mr. Elden's, but—"

—what was he said about "mistering"? It would be repeated over and over again. "I've cleaned up," she continued, with kindling enthusiasm. "These bare logs, bare floors, bare rafters—we've got back to essentials, anyway. And that's the best." She surveyed a framework of spruce poles, on which lay an old straw mattress and some very grey blankets. "I suppose he is very tired when he goes to bed," she said, drolly, as though that could be the explanation of the sleep and the surroundings. "And the walls give one a clue to the artistic side of his nature." A poster advertising a summer fair, with a prodigious bull occupying the centre of the picture, hung on one wall, and across from it a lithograph of a young woman, with very bright clothing and very elaborate skin and very delectable costume, tendered a brand of beer with the assurance that it goes to the spot. "I ought to drape it," she said, and the curl on her lip showed smooth white teeth.

"I was forgetting I have to find a bandage for you," she suddenly remembered. "There's his trunk; it might produce something, but we'll save it for a last resort. Now I will explore this main room, which I suppose is the kitchen, dining room, living room, everything."

In the southeast end of the larger room stood a fireplace, crudely made of slabs of native rock. The fire of many winters had crumbled the rock, so that it had fallen in places, and was no longer employed for its original purpose. A very rusty and greasy stove now occupied the space immediately in front of the fireplace, the stove-pipe leading into the ample but tottering chimney. Near the stove was a bench supporting a tin wash-basin, a wooden pail, and certain fragments of soap—evidently all the equipment necessary for the simple ablutions of the Elden household. The remnant of a grain bag, with many evidences of use and abuse, performed the functions of towel, and a broken piece of looking-glass gave the faintest imitation that a strain of feudalism relationship links the sexes. By the western wall was a table, with numerous dishes; and to the wall itself had been nailed wooden boxes—salmon and tomato cases—now containing an assortment of culinary supplies. A partially used sack of flour, and another of rolled oats, leaned against the wall, and a trap-door in the floor gave promise of further resources beneath. There was a window in the east and another in the west, both open and unscrubbed; myriads of flies gave the only touch of life to the dismal scene.

Irene looked it all over, then leaned against the window sill and laughed. Her father had brought her west for holidays with the promise of changed surroundings and new experiences, but he had promised her no such delight as this. With the Elden kitchen still photographed in her mind, she called up the picture of her own city home, the green lawn, faultlessly tended by a most scrupulous gardener, the floral borders, the hedges; the two stately trees; the neat walk, the wide verandah, the dim, mysterious hall; the rooms, heavily shaded to save the rich carpets; the order, the precision, the fastidiousness, the simplicity here and that stands there—these the flatness and emptiness and formality of it all, and she turned again to the Elden kitchen and laughed—a soft, rippling, irrepressible laugh, as irrepressible as the laughter of the mountain stream amid the evergreens. Then she thought of her mother; prim, sedate, conventional, correct—"Always be correct, my dear; there is a right way and a wrong way, and a well-laid person always chooses the right"—and her eyes sobered a trifle, then flashed in brighter merriment as they pictured her mother amid these surroundings.

"She wouldn't be so shocked, oh, dreadfully shocked," she replied to herself. "I am quite sure she would never approve of Father breaking his leg with such consequences. It wasn't the correct thing—very commonplace, I should say—and think of it! Why, the child—she's but a child, Andrew, a very beautiful child, but with just a little weakness for the—ah—unconventional—she must be restrained—she needs her mother's guidance to protect her from the suggestion of maybe—shall I say?—vulgarity. That's a very dreadful word. Think of all the vulgar people there are in the world. . . . And here is dear little Irene right in the midst of it, and—horrors—reveling in it!"

Then she looked again from the open window, this time with eyes that saw the vista of valley and woodland and foothill that stretched down into the opening prairie. Suddenly she realized that she was looking down upon a picture—one of Nature's obscure masterpieces—painted in brown and green and saffron against an opal canvas. It was beautiful, not with the majesty of the great mountains, nor the solemnity of the great plains, but with that nearer, more intimate relationship which is the peculiar property of the foothill country. Here was neither the flatness that, with a change of mood, could become in a moment desolation, nor the aloofness of eternal rocks towering into cold space, but the friendliness of hills that could be climbed, and trees that hisped in the light wind, and water that bubbled playfully over gravel ridges gleaming in the August sunshine. The girl drew a great breath of the pure air and was about to dream a new day-dream when the voice of her father brought her to earth.

"Can't you find anything that will do for a bandage?" he asked.

"Oh, you dear Daddyskins," she replied, her voice tremulous with self-reproach. "I had forgotten. There was a spell, or something, it just came down upon me in the window. That's a good idea, blaming one's negligence on a spell. I must remember that. But the bandage? Dear, no; the only cloth I see is the kitchen towel, and I can't recommend it. But what a goose I am! Our grips are in the car, or under it, or somewhere. I'll be back in a jiffy." And she was off at a sharp trot down the trail along which she had so recently come in Dave Elden's wagon.

SAT UP IN BED TO GET HER BREATH

Palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, inability to lie on the left side, feelings as if smothering, oppressed feeling in the chest, dizzy and faint spells, tired, weak, worn out feeling, involuntary twitching of the muscles, sleeplessness, restlessness, etc., all point to the fact that either the heart or nerves, or both, are not what they should be. Any of these conditions should be remedied immediately so as to avoid a complete breakdown of the whole system.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will bring energy to the weakened constitution, strengthen and regulate the heart, and tone up the tired, overstrained nerves.

Mrs. William Steeves, Chemical Road, N.B., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles and palpitation of the heart, which was so bad I had to sit straight up in bed to get my breath. I could not lie on my left side at all. I tried doctors after doctor, also several different remedies, but got no help from them. My mother insisted on my trying Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. By the time I had used one box, I was feeling very much better. I took in all the boxes, and now I am in perfect health and can enjoy a good sound sleep, and can lie on my left side without any trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are sold at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Industrial Activity in Manitoba
Several large manufacturing concerns have been incorporated in Manitoba during the past week. A mining company with a capital stock of $2,500,000 and a pulp mill capitalized at $200,000, along with many other large plants will begin operations in the province this summer.

Farmers Buying More Land

The Winnipeg Telegram reports a keen demand for more land among the farmers of Manitoba. "Now that the labor situation is less acute," says this paper, "they are purchasing more land in order to grow as much grain as possible while the prices are at the present high level."

This demand for land has increased its value. Farm lands are now selling at 25 per cent. higher than at this period last year.

Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heel footwear they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests which utterly makes the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of a drug called frezone applied directly upon a sore corn gives quick relief and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain. Ask the drug store man for a quarter of an ounce of frezone, which costs very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

This drug is an ether compound and dries in a moment and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Cut it out and pin on your wife's dresser.

Wants Prompt Action For To Save Russia

Paris.—A. F. Kerensky and members of the Parisian Union for the Regeneration of Russia have issued an appeal for prompt action, with a view to helping Russia out of her present chaotic condition. It proposes the organization of a mission composed of delegates from all the powers, and including representatives of organized labor, which will go to Russia and explain to the people and the different Russian governments the democratic aims they are pursuing.

The appeal says: "It should be stated categorically that the different governments repudiate the idea of any intervention likely to infringe upon the sovereign rights of Russia."

German People Are Learning the Truth

Have Been Ignorant of Acts Committed by Armies

Paris.—The German peace correspondents, seems to be trying to prepare their country for the acceptance of the treaty. A new tone is observable in the German press, for example the Völkischer Beobachter in explaining the enormous indemnity figure, says: "It must be remembered that great tracts of French territory have been rendered useless for many years. The devastated regions are twice the size of Saxony. Moreover, Germany took considerable quantities of stocks and bonds from the occupied territories. In the export warehouses stocks of manufactured goods were taken to Germany, together with the cargoes from the ships at Antwerp and the different river boats. Finally, even the kitchens and bedrooms of the inhabitants in the occupied territories were entered. There is not a place where a German non-commissioned officer armed with a requisition slip has not presented himself. The confiscated merchandise was resold in other countries with enormous profit."

Better still, systematic devastations were operated in the leading industries on a great scale. First the warehouses were emptied, then parts of the machinery were confiscated, and even the old iron were resold. Factories, looms, foundries, machine shops all fell into the hands of the devastation commission. It was thought thus to get rid of competition for many years or during the long period which France and Belgium would need to reconstruct their industries and restore the devastated lands. Germany hoped to be able immediately after the war to offer her products to the world."

The German people seem to have been kept in ignorance of the acts committed by the German armies. They are just beginning to learn the truth.

Germans Are Given A Time Extension

New York.—The Associated Press issues the following:

"A period of seven days of grace has been extended to Germany by the representatives of the entente and associated governments, in which the German peace plenipotentiaries may conclude their study of the peace treaty and formulate such replies to the various clauses as they desire. The extension of time, which originally was to have expired on Monday, was granted at the request of the Germans, who advanced the plea that more time was required in order that they might formulate arguments of such importance and length that were the original date adhered to, it would be impossible to complete them; thus the time has been set forward to Thursday, May 29."

Efforts made in Germany to ascertain even the gist of the contents of the proposed reply of Germany have been without reward. A report has it, however, that lengthy notes dealing with Alsace-Lorraine, the east Ger-

Italians Hold Back Not Disposed to Agree With Terms Offered to Austria

Paris.—The Temps anticipates that the revision of the peace treaty which is to be offered to the Austrian plenipotentiaries at St. Germain will be delayed for a few days. This will be due, the newspapers say, to the fact that the Italian government appears not disposed to sanction the new Austro-Slovak frontier, so long as the question of the frontier between Italy and Jugoslavia remains undetermined.

Papal Secretary Pleads For Huns

Note Declares Peace Proposals Are Impossible

Rome.—Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, had written in the name of the Pope an official note to Col. E. M. House, of the United States peace delegation, transmitting the arguments sent to the Pontiff by the German ships to demonstrate the absolute impossibility of their country fulfilling the peace conditions imposed by the allies.

In his note, Cardinal Gasparri explained that the Pope takes this step in favor of Germany as he would do for any country requesting his assistance, as he is only animated by humanitarian feelings. The cardinal adds that the Pope has done this the more willingly since he was also urged to undertake this initiative by a country belonging to the entente. He begs Col. House to submit the situation to President Wilson, hoping that the latter will use his power of the influence with the other delegates of the various powers with a view to securing a peace which will really be lasting.

Germans Resented Week Of Mourning

Order Decried by Government Far From Being Effective

Paris.—The week of mourning in Germany decreed by the government because of the terms of the peace treaty appears to have met with little success. The German musicians in particular seem to be resentful over the order as a measure which prevented them from earning their daily bread, while the Tageliche Rundschau and the Berlin Tageliche admit that the mourning was far from being completely effective. Reports are that nearly all the music-halls remained open, and that in some places the people danced all night. One bit of pungent comment comes from the Volkblatt of Halle, which says:

"It is not now, but on August 1, 1914, that general mourning ought to have been ordered in Germany."

Germans Must Share Economic Losses

Protest to Peace Terms Answered By Allied Governments

Paris.—A reply by the allied and associated governments to the German note protesting against the economic terms of the peace treaty as being calculated to cause the industrial ruin of Germany has been delivered to the German peace plenipotentiaries. The reply is under eleven heads, and answers each German contention. It declared that the allied and associated governments, in framing the economic terms, "had no intention to destroy Germany's economic life."

On the contrary, the report points out that in the reconstruction of the world's affairs Germany will have her part in the progressive development, but also will share with the rest of the world in the economic losses and disadvantages inevitably resulting from the war.

The reply declares that the German note fails to take into consideration the fact that the destruction of Germany and the end of militarism will relieve the German people of an immense burden of taxation, and return to the ranks of useful production millions of men formerly in the army who have been entirely withdrawn from industrial or agricultural activity.

The reply also makes an emphatic rejoinder to the German complaint that the loss of the German merchant marine will throw out of work thousands of German merchant seamen. The allies answer it is that the destruction of merchant ships, chiefly by German submarines, has had the unfortunate effect of limiting the opportunities for work of seamen throughout the world, the allied powers being the greatest sufferers. It adds that there clearly is no reason why Germany should be exempted from its share of the economic disadvantage growing out of this destruction of merchant ships.

The reply on the economic objections is regarded as one of the best documents in the exchange of notes.

Rumanians Protest Against Polish Advance

Poland Has Not Ceased Fighting in Accordance With Paderewski's Pledge

Paris.—The Ukrainian armistice commission has lodged a vigorous protest with the Peace Conference against the Polish advance in Galicia subsequent to the Paris agreement providing that hostilities be suspended. Premier Paderewski's inability to fulfill Poland's pledge to the entente, that the armistice would be respected, is causing much embarrassment to the allies. The supreme economic council discussed the advisability of continuing assistance to states asking for supplies, but fighting on regardless of pledges.

Representatives of Ukraine and Poland appeared before the Council of Four, but no decision on the situation was reached.

Minister Of Blockade Resigns

French Leader Considers Terms of Treaty Too Generous

Paris.—Baron Denys Cochin, former minister of blockade, has resigned from the right group in the chamber of deputies, after a meeting of the group, at which it was decided to send a note to Premier Clemenceau criticizing the peace treaty.

In a letter addressed to the Temps, Baron Denys Cochin considers that the treaty is too generous and unworthy of France and her allies. If it weighs heavily upon Germany, he said, it is because Germany's crimes "were big and that her reparations will be costly—which is justice."

Prince of Wales Coming to Canada

Will Open the New Parliament Buildings at Ottawa

Ottawa.—The Prince of Wales will visit Canada in August of this year, and will open the new parliament buildings at Ottawa. Sir Thomas White stated in the house that he had received a message from His Majesty the King, through the Governor-General, as follows:

"I am very glad to tell you that with my entire approval, the Prince of Wales will visit Canada this year in August. He will open the new parliament buildings in Ottawa."

It is understood that the Prince of Wales will also open the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, the same month.

British Aviator Undaunted

Raynham Still Intends to Attempt a Non-Stop Atlantic Flight

St. John's, Nfld.—Frederick Raynham, the British aviator whose intention to attempt the ocean flight with Harry Hawker, believed to have been lost at sea, came to grief when his Martinsyde plane was wrecked while running to the "take off," announced that he was in the race again for the first non-stop ocean air cruise. Recovered sufficiently from injuries suffered when his plane collapsed, able to leave his bed, Raynham said that the machine could be rebuilt with spare parts at hand here, provided the motor was in working condition.

While the Handley-Page and Vimy mechanics are assembling their huge machines for the Atlantic "hop," the little Martinsyde will be removed to town for repairs.

Captain C. W. F. Morgan, Raynham's navigator, will not be his partner in the new trans-Atlantic flight he is planning. Morgan's physicians told him his flying days were over, and it might take him two or three months to recover from the injuries he suffered in the wreck of the Martinsyde. Raynham has not named a substitute for him.

Wireless enquiry in all parts of the north Atlantic has brought no news of Hawker. His plane has been neither seen nor heard from since it was seen by the signal light lookout at the harbor mouth, disappearing over the ice strewn Arctic current to the east.

Delegates Say Terms Unacceptable

Copenhagen.—The conference of German political leaders and German peace delegates at Spa agreed that the peace terms were unacceptable, according to a dispatch to a German semi-official statement, and that Germany will leave no stone unturned in an attempt "to find a practicable basis of peace which takes into account our opponents' justifiable demands and those capable of being borne and carried out by the German people."

OTTAWA.—The commons deliberated the methods of the government bill validating, with modifications, the orders-in-council passed under the War Measures act relating to prohibition in Ontario, but the discussion took place in committee and was for the most part based upon an amendment moved by Home Cronyn, which would have permitted the manufacture in Ontario of beer of a greater alcoholic content than two and a half per cent, for export to other provinces where its sale is permitted.

Frank criticism of "bone-dry" prohibition came from Dr. Blake, member for North Winnipeg, who asserted that there has been too much control of the action of the people and that "prohibition was the straw which had broken the camel's back, and precipitated unrest in the country."

At the evening sitting, Hon. N. W. Rowell spoke at some length in support of the bill, declaring that no one piece of legislation had been received with so many expressions of approval.

He asked the committee to consider what the situation in Winnipeg would be today were the bars open. Dealing with the matter of permanency, Mr. Rowell said that the government was redeeming its pledge to the people by enacting the legislation for another year. During the next year some of the provinces would express their opinions with regard to prohibition, and this would have a bearing upon the situation.

After some further discussion, Mr. Cronyn's amendment was declared lost, and the bill was reported from committee. It stands for third reading.

Russia at War With Rumania

Bolshevik Troops Have Defeated the Rumanians and Occupy Two Towns

London.—Owing to Rumania's disregard of the ultimatum from the Russian Soviet government demanding an evacuation of Bessarabia, a state of war exists between Russia and Rumania according to a wireless dispatch from Moscow received here. Bolshevik troops have crossed the Dniester river in the Tiraspol district, where they have defeated the Rumanians and occupied Tehtegutli and Bender, the dispatch says. Bender is on the west side of the Dniester and 58 miles from Odessa. Near this town is the village of Varnitsa, where Charles XII took refuge after the battle of Poltava in 1709.

German Officers to Be Tried

London.—Frederick William Hohenzollern, the former German Crown Prince, will be liable to trial under the terms of the German peace treaty, it was declared by Mr. A. Bonar Law, the government leader in the house of commons. Mr. Bonar Law said that the commandants of prison camps would also be liable under the treaty's terms.

Turkey Presents Complications

Paris.—The Turkish problem has become most acute in the peace conference. Various delegations are striving to find some solution for the dismemberment of the empire which will not provoke a religious war.

The United States is being looked to by the other powers as the only nation which can become mandatory for Constantinople without the danger of precipitating another European war, but the United States delegates to the peace conference express doubts as to the willingness of the United States to accept the mandate, especially under the conditions which the powers have outlined.

With the Sultan expelled from Constantinople, the United States delegates expressed the belief that it might be possible for the United States public to become reconciled to the mandate. However, the Indian empire.

delegation, which has appeared before the Council of Four to plead for special consideration for the feelings of the Mohammedan world, as well as other Mohammedans who have made statements, assert that the sultan must not be forced out of Constantinople, declaring that such action would greatly affect his standing in the church.

Consequently Great Britain is seeking to have the sultan remain in Constantinople as head of the Moslem faith, but with purely spiritual powers.

It is now suggested that instead of transferring the sultan to a strip of territory somewhere in Asia Minor, that he remain in Constantinople, but be allowed to exercise a degree of temporal power over some territory in Asia Minor, to be selected, thus preserving the form of the Ottoman empire.

Ancient Customs in Acadia

The invention of the automobile supplanted the once favorite horse-drawn coach, and now the aeroplane may to a large extent take the place of the automobile. But, however science progresses, there still are places where the ancient order of things endures, and the people are contented following the simple customs of their ancestors. Oxen may yet be seen drawing kins in that part of Nova Scotia known as the Land of Evangeline. It is quaint to see such a sight on the street of a village or town. Unlike horses, oxen have their greatest strength in their necks. The drays are yoked to the brows and horns of the animals with leather straps. Bulls tinkle on their breasts as they move along. The tops of the horns are nearly always decorated with brass knobs. A pair of oxen will walk along leisurely drawing a load of four tons. If you interview the driver he will tell you that they are easily trained and do their work just as well as horses, and you can use them in places where horses would be difficult to manage. They plough and drag logs with the same docile temper as they show when yoked to the drays.

There are other old customs still surviving in the Land of Evangeline, and these add to the attractiveness of one of the most picturesque, romantic and historic regions in America. Still, very bays and rivers, shores of golden sand, hills and valleys with fragrant meadows or towering pines or fruitful apple trees, sunny skies and freshening sea and land breezes give health and pleasure to thousands of tourists every year.

Across the Bay of Fundy from St. John, New Brunswick, to Digby, Nova Scotia, is a delightful trip occupying a few hours. Approaching Digby Gap the Bay is dotted with the craft of hardy Nova Scotian fishermen. Passing through the Gap the homes of the people, amidst the woods on either side, look so pretty that one might fancy they were the dwellings of the fairies. Digby Gap leads into Annapolis Basin, whose deep and sheltered waters cover an area of sixty square miles. The Basin is unsurpassed for bathing, fishing, boating, and canoeing. Good roads and walks radiate from Digby amongst enchanting scenery. There are some good hotels in this part of the little town, and tennis, croquet and golf are amongst the games provided.

Tourists to Evangeline's Land generally make a tour of all the beauty spots of the region. Yarmouth, beside the sea, offers many attractions to the visitor. A colony of French Canadians, whose ancestors were expelled from Grand Pre, resides in the vicinity of Yarmouth, and still retains the traditions of the Acadians. Kentville is the home of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, which serves the entire district. Grand Pre was the site of the village from which the Acadians were banished in 1755. The well known Evangeline was wont to go for water and the willows under which she rested are still there; Blomidon mountain and the Basin of Minas near by are just as they were of old, the meadows are green on the dykelands and the little inland the gentle hills are patched with luxuriant orchards. Wolfville, the headquarters for tourists to Grand Pre, is built in the midst of one of the greatest apple growing localities in the world. The late King Edward was amongst those who visited and loved this spot. It is only a short walk from Wolfville to Grand Pre, and the marshlands, extended from one place to the other. The Dominion Atlantic Railway has purchased the "big field" where the Acadians made their village, which was their capital, and this has become a public park. A memorial cross now stands there on the site of the ancient burial ground, and a statue of Evangeline sculptured by Philippe Hebert and his son Henri, descendants of an Acadian family, will soon add the grace of art to attractions of a haunt where nature has lavished her rarest charms.

Always look on the bright side of things, and if you are buying them, look on both sides.

Don't tell a woman you take her to be an artist, judging by her face, unless you are looking for trouble.

Still Too Much of U. S. Flag

Displayed in Pictures Sent Out By Canadian Government

The waving of the Stars and Stripes in our moving picture theatres has been greatly reduced in the past four months through the pressure of public opinion on the subject. But the vigilant eye discerns some very queer manifestations to this day.

There recently passed through Toronto a film showing scenery in the Canadian Rockies, offered under the auspices of the Bureau of Publicity of the Department of Trade and Commerce. After showing many beautiful and striking scenes in the mountains, the film ended on Lake Louise, finally giving a slowly-turning panorama view of the hotel on that lake, and then flying proudly in the breeze, was the Stars and Stripes on the flagstaff of the hotel.

Throughout the whole picture, which was designed to set forth Canadian beauties, there were no Canadian flags. There was no Union Jack on the flagpoles; only one large cheerful Stars and Stripes to finish off the picture with a bang!

A few weeks later, along came another strictly Canadian picture on the subject of Canadian shipbuilding. It showed the great forests of British Columbia, the cutting of the timbers, the rafting of them to the coast; the great shipyards. Apparently the picture was designed to show how entirely Canadian the shipbuilding industry was. No flag was used to help this impression. But at the climax of the picture, when it shows the completed ship, amid a cheering crowd, sliding from its ways into the sea, there, draped hugely fair on the nose of the ship, and taking the very centre of the stage, was a huge Stars and Stripes.

Just what the idea is does not make itself clear. This picture also was presented by the publicity bureau of a Canadian Government department.

Jews Make Effort To Unite Workers

Delegates Met to Organize Jewish Labor Forces

Petal Tikvah—Jewish world of all Palestine recently concluded their first joint convention here. It was a significant session, marking the birth of the Zionist Socialist Federation of Labor, under the name of "United Labor."

In this, the largest and oldest Hebrew colony, just north of Jaffa, more than eighty delegates from every part of the Holy Land met to organize the country's Jewish labor forces. They represented two thousand "producers," not only agricultural workers, but teachers, office, business, trades and professional men. Fifty delegates were sent by the thousand legionnaires in the Jewish battalions, who have recorded their intention to settle in Palestine and are to be discharged here.

Enthusiasm ran high in the convention. Buxom Jewish "farmers," but a few years from the Russian Pale, had their share in the lively debate. The Yeminites, a zealous, red-frezed little group, more than once clamored for their "rights." Only the fresh-faced fillers from Galilee were calm. Among them, comrades from Judea, many of them self-exiled and thin, with the marks of the ghetto still upon them.

The new federation hopes to organize fifteen thousand "producers" in the country and through the Poale Zion Verband in Copenhagen to call an international congress of Jewish workers to consider the labor and colonization problems of Palestine. Its platform is: Nationalization of all the soil; the recognition of a minimum wage; the use of the Hebrew language now threatened by the influx of Yiddish-speaking newcomers; and land grants from the government for the Jewish legionnaires who remain here.

To Begin Work on Elevator Addition

Work on the construction of the two million bushel addition to the large terminal elevator of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company will begin next week, according to a dispatch from Port Arthur, Ontario. When this addition is completed the total capacity of the elevator will be 4,500,000 bushels.

Allies Ask Help Of Switzerland

Wish to Avoid Misunderstanding If a Blockade Is Necessary

Geneva.—The Swiss Telegraph Agency says it learns that the allied and associated governments demanded to know of the Swiss federal council if the council was ready to take rigorous measures concerning the application of the blockade, if Germany should refuse to sign the treaty.

"This means," says the telegraph agency, "that the allies desire to know whether Switzerland will consent to prohibit all exports from and imports into Germany except those permitted by the allies during the war. The object of the allies is to avoid misunderstanding about future restrictions on exportation into Switzerland in the event of the Germans declining to sign the peace treaty. The federal authorities are examining the note and will reply to it shortly."

Ormskov Government Growing Strong

Hour Russian Patriots Have Been Waiting For Has Come

Washington.—The strength of the Ormskov Government has reached such a stage that a formal declaration made by Ughet, Charge d'Affaires ad interim of the Russian Embassy, begins:

"The hour which Russian patriots and democrats have been waiting for during long months has come at last." The statement indicates that the details of the establishment of the government at Ormskov as the all-Russian Government have been completed. "Russia is coming back to life," concludes the statement, "and the near future will see her a great organized state built on broad democratic principles, with equality before the law for every creed and nationality. Russia's constitutional social and national problems will be solved through the All-Russian Constituent Assembly."

Favor Belgium Claims

Most Important Was in Regard to the Scheldt River

Paris.—The council of foreign ministers of the peace conference met and considered the claims of Belgium as affecting Holland.

The claims were presented in the presence of representatives of both countries. Stephen Pichon, French foreign minister, read the report of the peace conference, which had examined the subject. This report was highly favorable to the Belgian claims, the most important of which was in regard to the Scheldt river. The second claim touched upon was that for the Meuse river, which for military reasons Belgium claims form part of her territory and she should have effective control over it. Belgium also asks complete control of the Ghent-Terneuse canal throughout its length.

The Lure of the West

Rapid Rise of Farm Values in Prairie Provinces

To sell a half section of land at what was then regarded as a record price and for the original owner to buy back what he sold at a price of $35 more than he received is something which speaks volumes for the particular value of the land, and also reflects on the value of farming land in the district. This has been the experience of Jack Warnock, who, in 1917, sold his half section of land east of Barons, Alberta, for the price of $65 an acre, considered a record one, and has just bought it back at the price of $100.

Many farmers after making considerable sums of money on farms in Western Canada sell their places and leave the country. But generally it is not long before they are back again, with their enthusiasm for the country increased by their absence. They fail to find any other place where they can do so well as in Western Canada.

Peasants Rising Against Reds

Onsk.—The peasants are rising against the Bolshevik rule throughout the territory of Bolshevik Russia. This declaration was made by Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik minister of war, in a speech several days ago in Kahan.

Indifference sometimes wins where manifest desire stands no show.

Preparing for Transatlantic Flying

In future days when one takes a casual flight across the Atlantic, in a Detroit flying blower, the success of the trip can be credited to the British Air Ministry in general, the meteorological in particular and Lieut. Guy Harris, F.R.M.S., R.A.F., specially.

Lieut. Harris arrived in St. John recently, while making routine inspection of the Canadian Pacific steamship Montcalm. He is the commander of the Atlantic upper air investigation expedition, which under the control of the Royal Air Ministry will chart every air current and make the air route across the Atlantic as sure and safe as the water pathway. Weather news bureaus will also be inaugurated to furnish up-to-the-second conditions.

A representative of the bureau visited the vessel and examined the special apparatus with which she was fitted for the experiments. At first sight it seems to be simple enough, for it consists only of winches, wire kites, and a meteorograph, but the meteorograph is itself a complicated and intricate instrument, and kite-flying for scientific purposes is not quite the schoolboy fun that many people imagine it to be. The kites used are of three types, and the largest of these, which make the real test, are 6 ft. x 3 ft. pulled in a strong wind sufficient to strain the holding power of four men.

Besides the box kite there is a crown kite, 16 feet long and 12 feet high, with a main plane and two keels; and a kite is smaller and is used mostly as a pilot kite to assist the others up.

There are two winches, one placed on the fore's deck for use when the wind is aft, and the other for use when the wind is ahead or abeam, in to be sent off on the gun platform, the stern of the ship. By these means the mooring cables, which are of fine steel wire very similar to marine sounding cable, will be kept clear of rigging and machinery whatever may be the angle from the ship at which the kite is flying.

When the soundings are taken two kites are attached to the cable-end, a pilot of light make, and 400 feet behind it one of the bigger box kites carrying meteorograph. The air currents and varieties of atmospheric pressure vary in layers upwards, and soundings can be taken up to a height of four or five miles. The meteorograph, a comparatively small instrument, combining three devices in one, records at the same time, by pen points marking a chart on a revolving mographic pressure, and the speed of the wind, all factors of the utmost importance in the consideration of flight.

If the soundings experiments made from the Montcalm are successful, a number of ships will be fitted forthwith with similar gear to that which she is to carry. Soundings in great numbers will be taken, and the information obtained will be distributed by wireless from ship to ship, and to stations in London, Lisbon, the Azores, and Newfoundland. There is also to be an immediate station on a battleship cruising on a definite area between Newfoundland and the Azores. These are the points at which it has already been decided by the ministry to establish ports of call for cross-Atlantic air traffic. At each there will be repair shops, spare parts stores, and petrol for refuelling the aeroplanes. The type of machine to be used will be a "flying boat," and thus when the proposed method of gathering news about weather conditions is in full working order, and when in a month's time official cross-Atlantic flight by aeroplane begins, as it is hoped it will, pilots will be able to have their machines overhauled to "refill," and to learn the latest tidings of weather ahead at five hours on the journey. Thus the Air Ministry is reducing the risks of flight to a minimum.

It was at first proposed that these atmospheric readings should be made, using balloons of the type employed by the Meteorological office in carrying out daily readings over land, but there are many objections to flying balloons from ships. The kite which is made of fine linen, stretched between bamboo, is strong and serviceable, and can be folded away for storage in a very small place. It is also cheap to make and quickly turned out.

It may be remarked that the officer stationed at Lisbon is to be allowed (for use of the observatory there for gathering weather news. The official view is that the prospects for cross-Atlantic flights by aeroplane are entirely favorable, and it is hoped to make the journey without touching the Azores, the only passage on board ahead will have the greatest influence on the success of the venture.

Lieut. Harris said that these were many difficulties experienced in the kite flying at sea, but thanks to the valuable assistance of Captain Hamilton and other members of the ship's staff everything worked out remarkably well. It is a far different thing, he stated, to fly a monster kite from a moving, lurching ship than it is from the steady ground. It is very difficult to get the kite away from the ship, and for a long time he had to puzzle out a method of getting the recording instruments up to the kite safely. The accident had been successfully made. To the best of his knowledge, kites had been flown from ships only once before, and that long before the present war. During the voyage across he had made several altitude flights of 7,800 feet, and many over 9,000 feet.

The air service mentioned above, he added, will be used and charted for every sea, and will cover a service of airships and the larger balloons during air, as well as balloons. His records made during the voyage across are in rough shape, and of course nothing can be published regarding the trip until the official reports have been passed through the ministry at London. But, he added, "I am very well pleased with the results obtained, and I can state without qualification that the expedition, so far, has been most successful."

Mr. Harris is a fellow of the Royal Meteorological Society, and has been engaged in scientific pursuits for the past 18 years, making his first experiments when but a mere lad. He had been engaged in scientific kite-flying several years before the war broke out, and his services were keenly appreciated by the air service.

For three years he has been attached to the Royal Naval Air Service, operating around the British Isles and Dunkirk in anti-submarine work. It has been frequently stated that there never has been a ship attacked by the German U-boats while it was convoyed by a flyer.

Major Collinshaw Is Among Leaders

Mentioned as One of the Outstanding Canadian Aviators

London.—Among aviators and those who study their records a constant theme of discussion is, "Who is the outstanding Canadian aviator?"

Lieutenant Claxton, of Toronto, brought down 24 machines in one month; Colonel Bishop, V.C., holds the highest record; Major Barker, V.C., fought the greatest battle of them all and was looked upon as the finest tactician among the aviators on the Italian front; Major McKeever has the world's record as a two-seater pilot; Captain MacLaren should have had the V.C. for his 57 machines; Captain McAll, of Calgary, has a tremendous record, and if Major Carter hadn't shot his propeller off and had to descend in German territory he would have been chasing the leaders very close.

But whatever name comes up before these impromptu tribunals, that of Major Raymond Collinshaw, D.S.O. and bar, D.S.C., D.F.C., Croix de Guerre, is invariably mentioned among the very first.

Captured 10,000 Bolsheviks

London.—Russian Denikine, who is personally conducting the operations of his anti-Bolshevik army against the city of Taurin, in the Alps, announces the capture of 10,000 prisoners and 8 guns from the Bolsheviks. This news was telegraphed by the chief of the British military mission at Ekaterinodar.

Rantauz is Cheerful

Returned to Versailles With Financial Experts

New York.—The Associated Press issues the following:

Not alone has Count Brockdorff-Rantauz, the chief German peace plenipotentiary, returned to Versailles from Spa, where he went for a conference, but he brought back with him Herr Landberg and Herr Giesberts, two of the main members of the German delegation who had been in Berlin going over the situation with the authorities, and also a large retinue of naval, military and financial experts.

Thus, the indications are that the Germans intend to continue their efforts to come into agreement with the allied and associated representatives on peace terms, that will be satisfactory to the German government and people.

Pills for Nervous Troubles.—The stomach is the centre of the nervous system, and when the stomach suspends healthy action the result is manifest in disturbances of the nerves. It allowed to persist, nervous debility, a dangerous ailment, may ensue. The first consideration is to restore the stomach to proper action, and there is no readier remedy for this than Parmelec's Vegetable Pills. Thousands can attest the virtue of these pills in curing nervous disorders.

By Keeping the Liver Right

The Health of the Vital Organs Is Maintained and Serious Disease Is Avoided

Brandon, Man. — The secret of health in the home is found in keeping the liver, kidneys and bowels in healthful working order. The liver is usually first to get out of order, and there comes headache, indigestion, dizzy spells and biliousness to make life miserable.

Mrs. Cook tells how they have learned to avoid such derangements by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. As she says in her letter, they could scarcely keep house without them.

Mrs. G. L. Cook, 248 10th street, Brandon, Man., writes: "I have been using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the last four years for liver trouble, and can say I have had great satisfaction and help from using them. I find I don't need any doctor if I use them. They are the thing for me, and my husband uses them for his kidneys and thinks them a great help. He also uses Dr. Chase's Ointment and finds no equal to it for piles. I just sent last week and got four boxes of Pills and one box of Ointment. My daughter in Winnipeg has used the Pills and found they helped her a great deal. We say we can't keep house without them and that I have cheated the doctors here out of a good many visits they had here before I began using your Pills, and I can truthfully say I think Dr. Chase's Medicines are just the thing."

Bank Clearings Increasing

Indicate Healthy Business Conditions in Prairie Provinces

In the bank clearing returns for April of Western Canada cities signs of greater business activity, which will no doubt be more accentuated during the next few months. Compared with April last year, the increase at Calgary was over half a million dollars—$6,594,744, as against $6,081,990 a year ago.

At Edmonton, Alberta, there was a jump from $14,761,201 to $16,826,237, a gain of more than two million dollars. Such increases are typical of the returns at the other cities throughout the three provinces, and not being confined to one or two places, are indicative of the healthy business conditions generally prevailing.

Bro Breeders of Baby Beef

Young Farmers Greatly Encouraged By Prices Received

Encouragement in a tangible form to the young raisers of baby beef in Manitoba was given at Brandon recently, when about 60 calves which had been cared for by boys of the province were sold in record time at prices ranging from twenty to forty-one cents a pound. Buyers from the leading packing houses are said to have smothered the auction ring with bids. The prices the boys received was a great encouragement to this rising generation of farmers, though many found it hard to part with their pets. But they will have an important bearing on the livestock industry of the future, and their reward should encourage them to come back stronger every year.

Big Enterprise To be Launched

For Further Development of British Columbia Lumber Industry

What is undoubtedly one of the most gigantic lumber enterprises ever conceived, and a scheme which is fraught with tremendous possibilities in the development of the British Columbia lumber industry is about to be launched by a strong syndicate, says a dispatch from Victoria. This syndicate is said to be headed by a well-known New York financier, and its operations will be conducted on a colossal and world-wide scale.

The dispatch goes on to say that the syndicate by British interests to deliver 30,000,000 feet of lumber, which, in the event of a satisfactory agreement being reached on purchase price with the saw mills and lumber manufacturers, will be supplied by British Columbia mills; and in addition to this huge contract, further contracts are pending from European interests for an unlimited quantity of lumber that will run into billions of feet and will keep the mills of the province operating day and night at full capacity.

Livestock Wanted in England

Market reports which will serve to guide the Canadian exporters and farmers show that livestock in Great Britain is in keen demand. The Board of Agriculture's weekly returns for the middle of April show that prices for nearly all meat animals are maintained, especially for store cattle, though qualities vary considerably. From several market centres the reports were that the supply was not up to standard, and that sheep showed no improvement, as many lots were marketed in an unripe condition owing to wet weather and the shortage of artificial feeds. The same shortage marked the reports on hogs, of which all classes were selling well. At Shrewsbury some Angus cross bullocks made up to eighty-eight shillings ($1.12 per cwt. live weight), while at Birmingham the live weight price for hogs ranged about twenty-one shillings per score ($3.50 per stone of 14 lbs.) Prices everywhere showed an upward tendency. The same shortage was reported in provisions, especially butter and cheese.
